Our site or yours?

It is highly desirable for students to visit the Greenbelt Community Center where they can experience art studios, a contemporary art gallery, historical exhibits and more. However, if it is too difficult for your group to come to the Center, all activities except Greenbelt Museum programs can be brought to your school.

Physical Education Programs

Juggling Fools Workshop:

Students spend an hour exploring the world of juggling with professional fool and former Ringling Brothers Circus performer Gregory May. Scarves, balls, spinning plates, devil sticks, and more will be demonstrated and taught with an emphasis on how to continue the learning process at home. Benefits: hand-eye coordination, appreciation of rhythms and patterns, and the self-confidence that comes with the development of a new skill.

Dance

A fun, active exploration of the three basic elements of dance: time, space and energy. Drawing on a wide range of expressive and rhythmic movement activities, our dance workshops are designed to get students moving dynamically and thinking creatively. Students are engaged in the learning process visually, kinesthetically, and intellectually.

Greenbelt Museum Program

Supporting Maryland history, local history, social studies, health and home economics

Students visit Greenbelt's historic house and learn about a family home in 1937. See a 10-minute film about the history of Greenbelt, tour the museum's fashion exhibit at the Community Center and participate in hands-on activities including games and crafts.
